Hepburn Center Internship
Allaina K. Propst
Why do women, who make up half of the population, only account for about one-quarter of business ownership within the United States?
Golden Seeds is dedicated to empowering women financially.

Who they are:
- Network of angel investors who invest in early stage companies.
- Over 170 members, 85% are female.

What they do:
- The company must led by women; she must hold a CXX level position and hold equity in the company.
- Investing in women improves corporate performance and creates a stronger economy.
- Training and investing in female entrepreneurs who have great ideas, to better prepare them for the business world.
As an intern:

- Participated in investor/entrepreneur training.
- Gathered research for my senior thesis.
- Prepared patents.
- Participated in due diligence meetings.
- Created presentations and training manuals for the firm.
- Helped MBA interns with company valuations.
- Researched company competitors.