TUITION WORK SHEET

This is just a sample budget worksheet, that should guide you to understand study abroad financial policy and billing at Bryn Mawr. Students are advised to look carefully at the materials they have received from their program in order to plan an accurate budget. All study abroad students are charged Bryn Mawr tuition regardless of the cost of the study abroad program. Students are responsible for paying housing costs directly to the program. Students should plan for the cost of meals and additional living expenses. Financial aid students must meet with the financial aid office for additional information on study abroad and your specific award and how it relates or changes with study abroad.
