Tuition and Fees Refund Policy

Students will be refunded 100% of previously paid tuition, room and board, and college fees if the Dean’s Office receives written notice that the student has withdrawn from the College or begun a leave of absence before the first day of classes. Starting on the first day of class, students who withdraw or take a leave of absence from the College will be refunded tuition, room and board, and fees according to a schedule up to 60% of the enrollment period completed. Fall and spring breaks are not included in the calculation. Students who withdraw after completing 60% of the semester are not entitled to a refund. Self-Government Association dues and the health insurance portion of the College Fee are non-refundable starting the first day of classes.

Return of Financial Aid (Title IV and Institutional Aid) Refund Policy

When a student leaves the College prior to completing 60% of a payment period or semester, the College recalculates eligibility for federal funds in compliance with U.S. Department of Education regulations. Recalculation is based on the percentage of enrollment period completed. Fall and spring breaks are not included in the calculation. Upon withdrawal, eligibility for institutional aid will be reduced according to a schedule up to 60% of the enrollment period completed. Students who complete over 60% of the enrollment period retain all federal and institutional funds.

How Financial Aid Funds are Credited

Financial aid is credited to the student's account in two equal disbursements (fall and spring). Bryn Mawr Grants and Scholarships will be credited prior to billing. Federal Grants and Loans are scheduled for disbursement on the first day of classes for each term.

Students must complete the financial aid application process before grants and loans can be disbursed as a credit to their student account. Estimated award offers of grants and loans are not final and cannot be credited. If the financial application was selected for verification, the student must complete federal verification requirements before financial aid may be credited to the account or the student can work under the Federal Work-Study Program. Before a loan may be disbursed as a credit to the student account, the student must first accept the loan on bionic.brynmawr.edu, sign a promissory note, and complete loan entrance counseling.

Grants and Scholarships: Bryn Mawr Grants and Scholarships are credited prior to billing and will appear on the billing statement. State grants and outside scholarships are credited to the student's account once the College has received the funds from the state agency or private donor. Federal grants are scheduled to credit to the student's account on the first day of classes of each term provided the College has received authorization from the Department of Education.

Federal Direct Loan: First-time borrowers must sign a Federal Direct Loan Master Promissory Note (MPN) and complete Federal Direct Loan Entrance Counseling before funds can be credited. A federal loan origination fee of 1.062% is subtracted from the proceeds. Loan origination fees are federally regulated and subject to change.

Federal Direct PLUS Loan: Parents must sign a Federal Direct Master Promissory Note (MPN) before funds can be credited. A loan origination fee of 4.248% is subtracted from the proceeds. Loan origination fees are federally regulated and subject to change.

Federal Work-Study and Campus Employment: Wages earned through Federal Work-Study and Campus Employment are paid directly to the student bi-weekly and are not credited to the student's account.
