The Franklin Institute Awards

Since 1824 the Franklin Institute has recognized prominent people in science and technology. Every May they hold an Awards Week of symposia and events, culminating in an awards ceremony and banquet.

Increasing Diversity

I developed a plan to increase the diversity of the Franklin Awards laureates. The plan includes gathering demographics data and suggesting diverse candidates.

Office work in a large museum

A large part of my internship involved office tasks such as filling envelopes, proof-reading publications, and writing for a public audience. I learned that cooperation is an important part of working in a large institution.

I created and implemented a plan to archive photographic negatives from past events at the Franklin Institute.

Special thanks to my Faculty Supervisor, Monique Scott and my Field Supervisor, Beth Scheraga.
