Economic Consulting Matters: How applied economic theory can create social impact

By Nehel Shahid ’18
Field Site: Econsult Solutions, Inc.
Field Site Supervisor: Andrea Mannino
Faculty Advisor: Professor David Ross

About Econsult
- Based in Philadelphia
- Relationship-based culture
- Collaborative environment

Areas of Impact
- Affordable Housing
- Environmental Policy
- Transportation

Learning Objectives
- To apply my Economics courses to a consulting environment
- To enhance my ability to conduct economic research
- To explore macro vs. micro development

What I Learned
- Economic consulting is mostly applied microeconomics!
- Data analytics skills (i.e. R, GIS, Excel, and Stata)
- Communication and teamwork strategies

Moving Forward
- Microeconomics Courses
- Consulting Career
- Personal Growth