South Africa Revealed

A Journey Through The Rainbow Nation

Cape Town • Johannesburg • Kapama Private Game Reserve (Greater Kruger Area)
January 17–28, 2014
Dear Bryn Mawr alumnae/i and friends,

What makes a deeply rooted community live side by side after decades of racial segregation? How can one man and his followers change the course of history fighting injustices? And how can one country become an economic powerhouse and an example to the world that it’s a worthy competitor?

Welcome to South Africa! Also known as the Rainbow Nation because of its ethnic, political, historical and culinary diversity. Your journey will begin in Cape Town with visits to the Cape of Good Hope and Table Mountain. Enjoy the stunning scenery and world famous wines in Stellenbosch and Franschoek while savoring the magnificent Cape Malay culinary delights that make Cape Town well known. Spend some time on Robben Island, the infamous maximum-security prison where its most famous political prisoner and Nobel Prize recipient Nelson Mandela spent 27 years and became a symbol of hope for his people. Learn about this dynamic country while sharing a traditional meal in the home of a local family and listen to their stories of their livelihood and aspiration for the next generation.

A visit to the Apartheid Museum in Johannesburg will educate the visitor on how this nation emerged from the dark days of forced segregation to become a modern nation where generations of ethnic groups now live alongside each other.

Of course no visit to South Africa is complete without a visit to a wildlife game reserve with three days of game viewing and relaxation amidst raw nature and luxury.

Don’t miss this opportunity to discover South Africa’s most enchanting locations, its people and rich history. We look forward to welcoming you.

Warm regards,

Wendy M. Greenfield
Executive Director,
Bryn Mawr Alumnae Association
