

GRADUATE INTERNSHIP
DEPARTMENT OF SPECIAL COLLECTIONS
BRYN MAWR COLLEGE LIBRARY
SUMMER 2021

The Department of Special Collections offers summer graduate internships working with its collections of art, artifacts, rare books, manuscripts and archives. The internships will provide opportunities in a number of areas of special collections work, including exhibitions, social media, web sites, cataloging projects, and digital projects. In recent years the projects have involved working with the library's collection of 15th century printed books; cataloging and curating an exhibition of 20th century prints; and working with Greek and Roman objects in the archaeology collections.

At this point we expect the positions to include a mix of on-site and remote work, but the actual arrangements may change in response to the pandemic.

The positions are funded by the Friends of the Bryn Mawr College Library.

Eligibility: Open to Bryn Mawr College graduate students. Experience working with art, historical, or cultural collections is preferred, but not required.

Pay: $18 per hour.

Duration: The internships are for any ten week period between June 1 and late August, and are funded for up to 35 hours per week.

Deadline for applications: March 15, 2021

To apply: Submit letter of application, vita, and the names of two references to:
